JL Music Publishing are delighted to announce two new artist signings, with synth/rock act The Secret Game and Club Electronica outfit Sonic Monkey joining the JL Music artist family in March.

Formed in 2007 with ex-members of well known acts Close Call, Neo and Kaliope, The Secret Game have been performing regularly in SA, Vic and NT over the last 18 months, sharing the stage with a diverse genre of artists from the Funkoars to The Getaway Plan and performing at the Global Warming Festival in Kuta, Bali. The band released their debut EP Ayo! Lets Go! in March 2009. The EP, mixed at Brisbane's Black Box studio by renowned producer Magoo (Spiderbait, Regurgitator, PNAU, End of Fashion), contains 4 upbeat tracks with the bands trademark cheeky lyrics and energetic grooves, including Sacred Scratch, as featured in the 2009 film Offside. The Secret Game will tour Australian and Indonesia to promote the new release from April 2009.

Sonic Monkey are fast become one of Australia's best export electronica artists, with tracks breaking onto dance floors in Germany, Switzerland, the UK and the US. The three-piece electro club band have received great support for their singles through regular airplay on Fresh FM, Power FM, 5MU and Great Southern FM in Australia but it is in Europe and the UK where they have had their greatest success to date with the Tosch remix of their track The Sun, released by Bonzai Music in Germany, reaching no. 1 on the Swiss dance charts and holding on for an unprecedented 8 weeks, and newest offering Resist with accompanying film clip being re-mixed and released by renowned UK producer Paul James in mid 2009. JL Music Publishing will be working with their sub-publishers in the UK and Europe to maximise opportunities for the band and capitalise on their already impressive successes, as well as working with the band to promote Resist in Australia.
